Green-Ag: Transforming Indian Agriculture for Global Environment Benefits and the Conservation of Critical Biodiversity and Forest Landscapes

(GEF-6 Project, FAO PS: 637244, ID: 9243)

1. Background:

The Green-Ag Project aims to catalyze the sustainable transformation of India's agriculture, prioritizing the country's food security and farmers' income. The project endeavors to integrate biodiversity conservation, climate change, and sustainable land management into Indian agriculture, enhancing global environmental benefits. It supports the harmonization of India's agricultural and environmental sector priorities to fully realize National and GEBs without compromising rural livelihoods and food security.

Funded by the Global Environment Facility (GEF) in its sixth funding cycle, the Department of Agriculture, Cooperation and Farmers' Welfare (DAC & FW) serves as the National Executing Agency, with FAO as the Implementing Agency. The Ministry of Environment, Forest and Climate Change (MoEF & CC) acts as the GEF Operational Focal Point, coordinating all GEF Projects in the country.

Adopting a landscape approach, the project incorporates participatory governance and community-based natural resource management at grassroots levels for sustainable resource management, land-use systems, and improved livelihood options. Uttarakhand is one of the five states where the Green-Ag Project supports activities at State, District, and local levels. The primary landscape, "Target Green Landscape," has been selected based on extensive stakeholder consultations, focusing on selected micro-watersheds in Pauri Garhwal district, including the corridors of Corbett and Rajaji Tiger Reserves.

Implemented in the fringe villages of Rajaji Tiger Reserve and Corbett Tiger Reserve, the project landscape covers a total of 3,27,734 ha, including a 1,64,240 ha buffer zone of Rajaji and Corbett Tiger Reserves and a 1,63,494 ha area under Koh, Nayar, and Hyunal watersheds. Approximately 2,17,998 people from 47,465 families reside in nearly 1,231 Revenue Villages within these watersheds.

2. Need of Consultancy:

In Uttarakhand, traditionally farmers used to cultivate over 40 different crops, including cereals, millets, pseudo-cereals, pulses, oilseeds, tubers, and condiments, with hundreds of locally selected cultivars. However, due to higher resources requirements for cultivation in scattered and small landholdings, limited irrigation facilities, increase in migration, and human-wildlife conflicts the farming agricultural activities are being practiced in limited areas. These transformations have resulted in loss of agrobiodiversity in traditional agriculture system in the state and is more visible in the Rajaji-Corbett Landscapes. Pauri is one amongst the district with highest migration percentage. This poses a significant challenge of sustainability and ensured income for agrarian communities in the state, including the project landscape.

In this context, government schemes and programs play a crucial role in benefiting all farmers. Both national and state governments are implementing several welfare schemes to revitalize the agriculture sector in the state, including the landscape, and improve the economic conditions of farmers. However, the project team has observed that many farmers in the landscape are yet to benefit from these new initiatives, mostly because of limited beneficiary coverage under these schemes. It has resulted in low impact of the government benefits. Hence, there is an urgent need to revisit these schemes and evaluate them for the current needs and conditions of the landscape.

The State Project Management Unit in Uttarakhand, as part of the Green-Ag project, would like to take review the current plans and schemes and do a need-based assessment to come with with a plan of suggestions for the government to make their efforts for impactful. SPMU, Green_AG project, Uttarakhand is planning to organize a State dialogue workshop focusing on existing State and National policies related to agriculture sector to make them more accessible to the farmers not only in the proejct's landscape but in whole state. The policies and plans will also be reviewed with respect to their sustainability, affect on biodiversity, income to farmers while keeping the human-wildlife conflict in focus. The objective of the policy dialogue workshop is to formulate policy notes and reports that include recommendations for improving implementation and ensuring the maximum coverage of beneficiaries under government schemes and programs. For conducting the workshop, the SPMU would like to develop a guiding paper for discussion during the workshop to gather inputs from wider stakeholders and buy-in of the relevant line departments. The guiding paper will be developed in-line of the Green-Ag project's objective and outcomes.

3. Objective of the Assignment:

To assist the state project team in organizing a workshop focused on policy dialogue and drafting a policy paper/report. This document will outline strategic recommendations designed to promote and enhance agricultural production systems and increase farmers' profitability. It will achieve this by harnessing the potential of existing agricultural policies at the state level, with a nuanced emphasis on the Corbett-Rajaji landscapes. The assignment will integrate considerations of biodiversity conservation, sustainable land management, and climate change mitigation to align with the overarching objectives of the Green-Ag project, thereby ensuring a holistic approach to transforming agriculture for global environmental benefits and the conservation of critical biodiversity and forest landscapes.

4. Scope of work

- I. Review and analyse various policies, programs, and schemes in the agriculture sector with a focus on the biodiversity conservation, promotion of agriculture production systems, and farmers' profitability. This includes mainstreaming the benefits of different government policies, programs, and schemes while considering human-wildlife conflict.
- II. Identify major gaps and challenges in these policies/schemes from the perspective mentioned above. This step will pave the way for comprehensive discussions by setting a foundation that highlights critical areas for improvement.
- III. Develop a background note to facilitate discussions during the state policy dialogue. This note will address and propose solutions for overcoming the identified gaps and challenges, ensuring it serves as a vital document for informed stakeholder engagement.
- IV. Support the state team in organizing the policy dialogue workshop. This involves not just identifying and engaging with stakeholders but ensuring their inputs are systematically captured and reflected in the policy dialogue outcomes.
- V. Draft a policy paper/report based on the outcomes and discussions from the policy dialogue. The report will offer actionable recommendations to enhance agricultural production systems and farmers' profitability, ensuring alignment with the project's objectives and the state's unique agricultural context.

5. Area of Work:

The policy dialogue will be state-centric with special emphasis on the Rajaji Corbett Landscape of Uttarakhand selected under Green Ag.

6. Duration of Work:

- The study duration would be two months w.e.f. the date of the agreement.
- The study will be carried out under the direct supervision of the Project Director, GEF-6, State Project Management Unit, Watershed Management Directorate, Uttarakhand, Dehradun.
